All Day positions:

These volunteers should NOT be registered for Conference

Speaker Book Table Assistants: Many of the workshop and keynote speakers have books or other materials for sale at their speaker table. Volunteers help manage the table during speaker's absence and assist at other times. They answer questions and make cash transactions. This is an all day commitment, with opportunity to take in some sessions during the day. Some standing is necessary. They do not register for the conference. For full day volunteers we provide a lunch, a conference bag and an open workshop list.

Personal Assistants for speakers (PA): This is an all day commitment as these volunteers stay with one speaker throughout the conference. The PAs introduce the speaker at his/her workshops, assist with audio/visual materials or equipment, and work at the book table. These volunteers need to be outgoing, flexible, and have high energy. Commitments need to be firm! Some standing is necessary. They do not register for the conference. For full day volunteers we provide a lunch, a conference bag and an open workshop list.

Before/between workshops for 1 hour or less:

These volunteers should be registered for conference.

Schedule Pick Up: Women working in this area hand out packets to attendees with name tag, conference schedule, program etc. They can sit down while doing this. Women attending the conference can easily do this job on Friday night or Saturday morning and they get preferred seating for Moms Night Out or the morning main session. They need to arrive approximately ½ hour before schedule pick up opens.

Hostesses: These women help attendee's find their workshops, help with crowd control, and give directions and information. They are strategically posted throughout the building and on campus. They need to register for the conference. They will help before and after main sessions and between workshops.

Hearts Shoppe Helpers: These women may bag purchases and stock as needed in the merchandise area of the conference. They will be standing up most of the time. They need to register for the conference. They will help during one workshop.
