Chapter 8 Discussion Questions

No More Perfect Homes

Dig Deep

- 1) What's the oddest/grossest thing you've found in your child's bedroom?
- 2) What room of your house is hardest for you to manage? Why?
- 3) Have you changed your expectations about your house in anyway? How has it helped you to love your real house?
- 4) What is one thing you highlighted/noted as you read this chapter? Why did it strike you as important?

Apply

Select one antidote on pages 161-164 you will apply this week. Brainstorm some practical ways you can apply the antidote this week in order to embrace your imperfect home.

Write I Thessalonians 5:18a, "Give thanks in all circumstances," somewhere where you can see it regularly this week.

Pray

Father God, thank you that we live in a place where we have more than enough. We have a roof over our head, a soft place to sleep, warmth in the winter and cool in the summer. Help us to change any negative messages in our head about where we live and to give thanks in all circumstances. In Jesus' Name. Amen.
